In terms of installed capacity, as of July 2021, the total installed capacity of solar energy in Vietnam was approximately 19,400MWp (of which nearly 9,300MWp is household photovoltaic, accounting for nearly half), which was equivalent to 16,500MW, accounting for approximately 25% of the country's total installed electricity capacity.

Is Vietnam a good country for solar energy?

Vietnam leads the ASEAN region in both photovoltaic manufacturing and photovoltaic installed capacity. In terms of the solar energy potential, Vietnam is endowed with unique solar resources.

Why is solar energy growing in Vietnam?

Support policies such as electricity price subsidies and tax exemptions are the key driving forces for the rapid growth of installed capacity of solar energy in Vietnam. Of course, Vietnam's current photovoltaic installed capacity is also restricted by the aging power grid that is unable to absorb green electricity.

Which technically continue, but have been subject to repeated policy changes, and delays in payment, making the rooftop solar sector almost a non-starter in most states. Vietnam's original FIT policy had created a solar ground mount boom with 2019 installations of about 5.317GWp from a cumulative 2018 solar base of 106 MWp.
